Congratulations due to the Produce Show for once again raising an excellent sum. Good weather again and some inflationary prices for auctioned veg et al must have helped. An amazing range of entries and some fun games. Could we though make a plea for next year including some of the "Where is this?" photos or similar. Those of us ungifted in the chucking of arrows or bowls would enjoy that!.

A note from Georgina Oldham asking for carol requests for "Pies, Punch and" reminds that winter's on its way. Do let her know as soon as poss (820423) if you have a favourite especially if it isn't widely known.

The evening of Jazz Classics at the Hall on October 15th promises a tuneful time. Always good to have access to live music not just the canned stuff. Concert again in support of St Andrews. If you've not been to the Hall for a while, you'll be sitting on the new Comfy chairs!

Let us have all your information for the Christmas edition by November 25th including any events for January and Feb.

Leaves begin to fall about now.

A big 'thank you' from the Produce Show Committee.

Taking the Strain at the 2004 Produce Show

Many of you will have seen the draft financial report which shows that we have had a record year so a big thank you

- firstly to all members of the committee for working tirelessly through the year planning the show.
- to Mr & Mrs Barrett for the use of the field. We are very grateful.
- to all the people who helped on the Wednesday and Saturday with the setting up of the hall and field.
- to all who helped clear it all away so quickly [a special thank you to Martin Haynes who insisted on dismantling the gazebos. How did he know it was going to be very rainy on Sunday]
- to everybody who took the trouble to grow things, make things and exhibit things. We had a record number of entrants and entries.

A reminder that the Annual General Meeting of the Produce Show is on Monday 15th November, 7:30 at Rhodes Hall. Everyone is welcome.

Rhodes Memorial Hall Gets New Chairman & Secretary

Geoff Ball is the new Chairman of the Rhodes Hall Trustees. Geoff replaces Cherry Handy who has stood down having served for the last five years. The Hall AGM thanked Cherry for presiding over many developments including the new car park. Also receiving valedictory thanks is Vicky Lewis who has been secretary for the last year. Vicky is replaced by Di Brown. Carol Cann will continue as treasurer.

We are fortunate that the finances of the hall remain healthy.

What improvements would you like?

The Trustees are considering what improvements could be made to the hall, either on a small or larger long-term scale. If you have a suggestion please contact a member of the committee or write to the Secretary, Rhodes Hall Trustees, Wychwood, the Quarry, Brockhampton. GL54 5ST.
